

Main Control Room on board of Sea Launch Commander

The Launch Control Center is located on the Assembly and Command Ship with special units of operations for English-speaking and Russian-speaking launch teams. Operations are managed in two-way translation services. Countdown to launch and telemetry and tracking data are observed and directed from the centre.